

ANIMAL COMMUNICATION AND HEALING

Onye Onyemaechi is an animal communicator and healer. He uses communication, natural remedies and spiritual energy healing to help animals, and their human companions.

- Animal Communication –
How Can it Help You and Your Animal?

As an animal communicator and healer, Onye helps and encourages people and animals to expand their deep understanding and love of each other and heal the challenges of their life - physical, emotional and spiritual - including help in the following areas:

- When the animal's behavior is abnormal or inappropriate, such as fear, aggression, separation anxiety, annoying habits
- To find each other, when an animal is lost or missing, or lost in the transition stage
- Communication, especially as the animal is transitioning, before and after, from this world
- To comprehend the purpose of being in each other's lives, as well as understanding physical illnesses and injuries
- integration of an animal into the family with celebrations
- Discover a rescued animal's past history
- Address quality of life issues - wants and needs of your animal, improve relationships
- Obtain information and healing assistance during illnesses or injuries

- The Healing Process

1. Onye connects with the pet, sometimes putting it in a trance state, and asks about their life, experiences and bodily problems.
2. He locates the areas of emotional and physical pain.
3. Onye recommends what is necessary for healing, whether it is veterinary, dietary, emotional, spiritual or experiential. It could be the owner who needs to change and heal!
4. Onye projects spiritual energy healing to the animal.
5. You will see the transformation in your pet!

ANIMAL SERVICES

- ◆ Spiritual Communication and Healing
- ◆ Blessings and Welcoming a new Pet to the Family
- ◆ Burial Services for Animals
- ◆ Grief Counseling and Support (after the passing of an animal)
- ◆ Spiritual and Memorial Services for Animals
- ◆ Lost or Missing Pets

- What Happens During a Session?

During the initial session, Onye will usually ask few questions about you and the animal and your purpose. He will get centered and start receiving information concerning you and your animal.

Generally, he shares messages he receives from the animal and helps in answering any questions you may have for the animal. He approaches each session with transparency, sacredness and reverence.

Recommendations are offered to improve the healthy lifestyles of the animal from intuitive insights, practical and spiritual perspectives.

Expect miracles, but rest assured of the healing power of natural remedies, prayer and trust. It is not uncommon to experience positive results after a session. Often substantial improvement can occur in a short period of time. However, concurrent improvement generally takes effect gradually depending on the purity of communication, as well as the healing treatment.

DEATH AND GRIEF

- Dying Animal in Transition

Onye has a deep interest in helping animals and their families as the animal prepares for and completes its transition. More information is often revealed about the animal in transition that may assist during this difficult time.

The experience of an animal's transition can be heart-breaking and can also be a period of intense closeness for the families involved, as well as a time of growth, renewal and healing. For this reason, working with people and their animals during this time can be beautiful and rewarding in so many ways. Animal communication, spiritual healing and counseling help people and their animals transcend the animal's death with comfort and peace.

When an animal or people are approaching transition, communication can help to clear unfinished business and is often reassuring for both the animal and the person that all is well. Animals, like people, often have important matters to reveal prior departing this world. These matters can involve fun times and painful, as well as sweet memories, and comfort, especially what they wish to share before and after transition.

Communication with an animal can assist people in understanding how to help their companion be comfortable at the end of life, along with healing words, encouragement and support. It is very important for both animals and companions to share their hearts and soul and ensuring a closure. As a result each may have a sense of comfort, resolve and completion.

TESTIMONIALS

- What clients say:

Onye,

I want to take this opportunity to express my thanks for the healing you did for Eko. Although Eko is a dog to most, he is like another member of our family. Before Eko's healing he was in an extreme amount of pain, he wasn't eating, he was not active, and he didn't even chase the neighbor's cat.

I took Eko to the veterinary before meeting with you and they prescribed him pain medication and his diagnose was unknown. The pain medication caused him to be more lethargic. Out of desperation and love for my Eko, I made an appointment with you. Your healing hands and working with Eko that very night was absolutely amazing.

The very next day Eko was chasing the neighbor's cat and he was even able to jump into the car. Eko's eating habits have improved tremendously, and as you recommended he eats dinner with our family.

My husband and I have both noticed that his personality has become almost human like. We communicate much better with each other and our training has become easier.

Again, thank you so very much for your blessings and healing hands.

WHAT IS ANIMAL COMMUNICATION

What is Animal Communication?

Do you know that most animals, including people, use body language and non verbal communication skills, as well as sound and smell to communicate with one another? Well, many animals communicate by smell and by telepathic, intuitive and other subtle ways, such as releasing pheromones (air-borne chemicals) to send messages to one another. It certainly plays an important role in reproduction and social behaviors. They are used by many animals, including insects, deer, and even humans!

Animals naturally can send visual images, feelings, thoughts, ideas and strong sensations as effective communication. Many times these ways of communicating have unique words, accompanied by strong vibrations, to stress the meanings and significance of their intentions or motives.

Some people have the belief that animals have no feelings and emotions and are even unintelligent. In my experiences with animals, it is completely the opposite. Some animals have a greater capacity to love, communicate and relate far better than some humans. If all humans could love animals and the Divinity of nature as Saint Francis of Assisi did, as well as other animal lovers, our world could be much more fun and effortless.

Sending and Receiving Feelings -

You can send a feeling or emotion to an animal by experiencing the feelings and then imagining that the feeling is transmitted to the animal. An intuitive communication requires sending and receiving information mentally, emotionally, visually and spiritually.

By using your intuition you can feel or sense the physical feelings that an animal is experiencing; you can tell if the animals in pain and where the pain is. You can have an impression of the animal's health.

- Mental Communication

In intuitive communication you can send and receive thoughts mentally. This ability is called mental telepathy or clairaudience (clear hearing). In practice, you can hear words and phrases mentally and even receive mental imaging.

- Receiving Visuals and Images

Using your intuition you can transmit a visual image to an animal and you can actually mentally see a picture sent by an animal. This ability is called clairvoyance (clear-sighted) and a person may also have the capacity to see into past and future events. Animals naturally can send visual images, feelings, thoughts, ideas and strong sensations as effective communication.

- Instincts -Premonitions

The ability to know when some event is true without reasons, even without knowing how you or why you know. This is another aspect of clairvoyance. Usually, when information comes to you in this manner, you are undoubtedly certain of it and nobody in this world can persuade you otherwise!

- How Communication Can Help Animals

Communicating to animals helps in the same ways that enables people to cope with life's stressful challenges such as illness, injury, emotional and traumatic experiences. People and animals feel better when someone cares and comfort them during difficult times.

Oftentimes, animals wish to convey current or past situations affecting their life, especially when their companions are not reciprocal to their needs. Many animals take a strong interest in the spiritual and emotional growth of their loved ones. Frequently, animals assume the family's stressful lifestyle or take on ancestral problems which results in many health problems for the animal. It is important to communicate to the animals, to set boundaries and protect them from absorbing an unhealthy family environment.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- How long is an appointment?

Initially appointments are generally an hour. It allows time for the animals and their companions to get acquainted with their environment. Sometimes it is not always the case that the animals are comfortable. It will depend on their current state or condition upon arrival for the session.

- What is the cost of an appointment?

The cost of all animal communication appointments is $160 per hour. If our time together runs over an hour, you will be charged according to the time we spent. I require a prepayment before the session via PayPal or send a personal check or money order to the address on the Contact Us page on the site.

- How much notice for cancellation?

At least 48 hours notice needed if you're unable to meet the appointment

- What to bring when your animal is missing?

Describe the animal; bring a photo or favorite toy/blanket; provide the circumstances, date and last known location of the missing animal.

- Should I make a list of questions for my animal (s)?

It is always helpful to make a list of questions before the appointment. Bring with you a positive attitude, calmness and be fully present with issues regarding your animals. Questions are unlimited and list them even when you think it is not very important.

- Can I speak with multiple animals simultaneously?

Yes, but it is wise to have ample time for the sessions. However, I encourage one animal per session to avoid distractions. Also, it is important to give respective animal ample time to express or communicate their truth without haste.

- Do I need to be with my animal during the session?

In respect to animal communication, it is not necessary for you to be present during an appointment. However, I do encourage your presence during a healing treatment for your animal. It will assure a level of comfort and support for both you and the animal.

- How to Prepare for an Animal Communication Appointment

Many people find it helpful to make a list of their inquiries and concerns before an appointment. It is not absolutely necessary to bring your animal to the appointment. However, if your animal insists, you may bring him/her along.

During the appointment Onye may ask a few questions regarding the animal and related concerns. By the end of the session, there will be a clear understanding of the causes and effects of the animal's health concerns and wellbeing, moving towards a positive result.

Generally, Onye shares messages he receives from the animal and helps to answer appropriately any questions you may have about the animal. Onye approaches each session with reverence, sacredness and clarity.

Please note:

Animal communication and Spirit healing should not replace veterinary care. They are non-medical therapies which can complement other healing modalities, including traditional veterinary medicine, and are a powerful component of an integrative approach to the healing and health maintenance of all animals.

APPOINTMENTS/FEEES

Onye views every animal and situation with grace and respect. Also, he suggests the approach best suited for the optimum healing experience possible. Animal communication appointments are usually conducted in person or by phone / Zoom (distance healing).

Animal communication/healing: $150 per session (60 minutes) in Santa Rosa or virtual on Zoom. Time over one hour will be charged pro-rated. Don't worry; if you are at a distance it is not a problem for Spirit and the animal soul to communicate with me.
